EXPECTS LARGE CLASS

Middlebury College Will Begin Its 117 Year on Thursday.

Middlebury, Sept. 18.—Middlebury college will open for its 117th year on Thursday and the prospects for a large entrance class are excellent. The opening exercises will be held Thursday morning at nine o'clock in the Mead Memorial chapel and will be open to the public. President Thomas will deliver the address. Besides the chapel, Hepburn hall will be used for the first time. A large number of rooms have already been assigned. Mrs. Mason will be in charge as matron and the Hepburn commons will be in charge of Miss Ada Bristol.

Three new instructors join the faculty: Prof. Lewis J. Hathaway in music, Dr. Edward C. Foye in geology, and Roy C. Phillips in romance languages. Registration began this morning and the advisors will begin work tomorrow and hold sessions each day. Entrance examinations began this morning.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

Triennial Gathering To Be Held In St. Louis.

The 44th triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will be held this year in St. Louis, opening Wednesday, October 11. This is the first time in its history that this gathering has been held west of the Mississippi. An outstanding feature of this convention will be the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the election to the episcopate of Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, the oldest bishop of the American church.

Each of the 68 dioceses has already elected four clerical and four lay deputies; the 23 missionary districts have chosen their one lay and one clerical deputy; and the 10 foreign jurisdictions will each have a representative. In addition to these 600 clerical and lay deputies, 122 bishops will be present.

The convention sits as two houses, the house of bishops and the house of deputies each having a veto upon the other. Its primary object is to make laws for the Protestant Episcopal church. Legislation takes the form of canons which are operative at once, and amendments of the constitution which require action by two successive conventions. The house of bishops fills vacancies in the missionary episcopate with the concurrence of the lower house.

In the house of deputies there are 14 standing committees appointed by the president. There are also 10 committees or commissions of the house of bishops. In addition the joint commissions and committees of the two houses number 36.

Among the important subjects now under consideration by these bodies are the relation of the Episcopal Church to other Christian communions; revision and enrichment of the prayer book; Christian education; the divorce problem; missionary organization; the election of a bishop for negroes in the United States; and an adequate pension system for the clergy.

Both houses of the convention will meet in the Moolah temple, the sessions of the house of deputies being open to the public. For the past few years there has been a growing agitation against the exclusion of the press and public from the sessions of the house of bishops. A proposal to throw open the proceedings was defeated by a very narrow majority at the last general convention in New York, but there is every reason to believe that it will be successful this year.

GLYCERINE AND BARK PREVENT APPENDICITIS

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-ika, astonishes Bennington people. Because Adler-ika acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE Constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-ika is astonishing. W. L. Gokay, druggist.

TO THE PUBLIC!

In view of the serious effects of having any cases of Infantile Paralysis in Bennington it seems important that a more rigid quarantine should be established. At present there are no funds available for the Health Officer, either from the State or the Town, for this purpose. A small sum was given him by individuals, and temporarily there is an inspection of all trolley and New York point cars and trains from Massachusetts. If this is to be continued, there being no public funds available, money must be raised by private subscription. Checks may be sent to the Bennington County Improvement Association, to the order of the Association, or money may be left at the Bennington County National Bank for this purpose.
